WHAT WE DO...

IT'S MORE THAN A COMMERCIAL KITCHEN—IT'S THE ESSENCE OF YOUR BUSINESS

Commercial kitchens must operate as fully-equipped workspaces with modernized cooking flames, chimneys and racks that are efficient and up-to-date. Mostly modular, the equipment must perform optimally within limited spaces. While planning to set up a commercial kitchen, there are few essential steps to keep in mind, as listed below:

1. REQUIREMENT AND CONSULTATION

Our first step is to gather and chalk out specific needs of our clientele. A step-by-step mapping of your requirements is done to achieve in-depth understanding. While translating requirements to plans, feasibility is checked and accordingly discussed before finalization.

2. FLOORPLAN

After gathering requirements, we develop floorplan options based on your needs. We ensure intricate details are covered, and that a holistic plan is created. Our clients get a crystal-clear blueprint that matches their specific needs.

3. DESIGN

The Design phase includes designing and detailing as per the floorplan. We adopt a creative approach to ensure that the interiors are highly professional and aesthetically appealing. Material and colour combinations are carefully selected at this stage as well.

4. EQUIPMENT SUPPLY

A list of equipment required for the kitchen supply is prepared and a comprehensive plan is prepared. Quality assurance is carried out to ensure equipment supplied meets international standards.

5. STEEL FABRICATION

If fabrication is required, namely for modular kitchens, our team plans and fabricates the equipment at an offsite location. An entire plan for the fabrication process, including manpower, tools, and timeline is drafted and executed upon.

6. DELIVERY AND INSTALLATION

Once the aforementioned steps are completed, delivery of all products are done to the client's location. Installation is completed on-site by our skilled workforce.
